

BRITAIN WILL NOT JOIN PACT AGAINST REDS

Pledge To Protect Belgium Also Is Renewed

Cabinet Reviews Dangers To Peace Of Spanish War

London, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Britain looked with cold suspicion today upon the German-Japanese anti-Communist pact, renewed her pledge to protect little Belgium, and in emergency cabinet session reviewed the danger to European peace presented by international tangles of Spain's civil war.

Success of the British ban on arms shipments by ships of the empire will determine whether the present non-intervention policy will be changed, close observers predicted.

Government sources hoped also that a ban of safe anchorage to neutral ports in Barcelona harbor by Insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco might lessen the danger of serious incidents.—If Franco carries out his threat to destroy the port if necessary to stop shipment of arms to Madrid.

Britain was represented as opposed to the Spanish demand made today for a meeting of the League of Nations Council to consider the civil war situation.

The council could accomplish only a reaffirmation of the principle of non-intervention, a high government source said, and the European neutrality committee already is trying to enforce this principle.

The non-intervention sub-committee met today to decide whether to adopt some regulation of arms transportation to Spain.

A program of regulation for everything except airplane exports has been ready for some weeks.

But the possibility Italy, having recognized with Germany the Fascist junta, might see fit to send arms openly to Franco was another matter. Such aid "obviously" would destroy Italian hopes of a Mediterranean accord with Britain, authorities said.

(Possibility of a British-Italian accord on security in the Mediterranean has been much discussed in recent weeks both here and in Rome.) An "overture" toward lining up Great Britain with Germany and Japan in the pact against Communism, completed this week, met cool and quick rejection, informed circles revealed.

A GIFT FOR STALIN

Moscow, Nov. 27.—(AP)—With characteristic enthusiasm for the products of Soviet Russia's industrial enterprise, a group of munitions workers from Tula today marched into the hall where the all-union congress of Soviets was in session and proudly announced through their spokesman the presentation of a machine gun to Joseph Stalin. The supreme Soviet leader was not in the hall, however, and Michail Kalinin, as president of the central executive committee of the Soviet, accepted the gift for him.

VOLCANO RUMBLES

San Salvador, El Salvador, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Repeated activity of the volcano San Vicente today caused the governor of the province of San Vicente to order evacuation of the zone, at the foot of the volcano. Strong earth tremors, which began last night when the volcano began to emit smoke, continued today.

Woman of Italy Has Comment on American Sister

Rome, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The American woman, seen through the eyes of an Italian woman, is a creature apart from her European sister, but admirable nevertheless.

Such is the conclusion of Signorina Daisy Di Carpenetto, Italian novelist, based on her observations during an American tour.

In an article published in a Rome newspaper, Signorina Di Carpenetto says of the American woman:

1. Economic emancipation has made her more independent than Italian women.
2. The camaraderie she enjoys with men is undreamed of by the carefully chaperoned Italian girl.
3. She is more cultured than her men folk.
4. She is an elusive matrimonial prize until she falls in love, and then she is—just a woman in love.
5. Her family life is more honest than in Italy.
6. Her egotism impels her to put her own happiness above that of her children.

RUSSIA SCORES UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT

Comparison Made To Soviet Judicial System

Moscow, Nov. 27.—(AP)—One of the harshest Soviet prosecutors today attacked the United States supreme court, the American Democracy and Constitution, before the all-union congress of Soviets called to promulgate the new Russian constitution by Joseph Stalin.

The verbal attacks on the American legislative procedure came after the congress received reports of a new border incident in the Far East, made public while 1,000 picked Russian soldiers paraded in the Kremlin where speakers denounced the enemies of the Soviet Union.

A. J. Vishinsky noted prosecutor who handled the case against the now-executed counter-revolutionaries Zinoviev and Kameneff, praised the Soviet judicial system and comparing it with the United States procedure, said:

"Our judicial system is the backbone of democracy. In the United States, the supreme court appointed by the president is called upon to cover up the reactionary actions of the ruling minority. x x x x x

"In all bourgeois countries the courts protect the moneybags and the judges are usually rich politicians." Vishinsky went on to similar criticism of the Japanese German Italian and Polish constitutions.

The prosecutor's indictments of the "capitalist countries" was about the only act of the day's congress which was not concerned with the Far East.

It was reported that Russian and Japanese Manchurian border patrols clashed in an hour long battle in the second frontier incident charged by Russia in the last three days.

Reports reaching Moscow from Khabarovsk said three Japanese soldiers entered Russian territory Thursday and were seen by Russian soldiers who killed one Japanese.

Later, these reports said, a detachment of 50 Japanese-Manchurian soldiers crossed the frontier and battled a Russian border patrol with grenades and machine guns for one hour with many soldiers killed on both sides.

Shiro Sakoh, Japanese charge d'affaires at Moscow, called upon Benedict Kozlovsk, Russian undersecretary for foreign affairs, to protest a similar incident of Nov. 24, was met by a rejection and a new Russian protest against Thursday's incident.

Numerous speakers before the congress repeatedly referred to Russia's readiness to repulse any invader in the Far East and her determination "not to surrender one inch of territory."

Japan Approves Record Budget

Tokyo, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Japanese cabinet approved today a stupendous record-breaking budget of 3,041,000,000 yen ($69,726,000) with almost half of the sum devoted to the Japanese army and navy.

The 1936-37 defense appropriation alone was 1,409,000,000 yen (about $400,000,000). The army was given $205,000,000 and the navy $194,480,000. The budget estimates left a deficit of 840,000,000 yen over anticipated income, which was forecast at 2,200,000,000 yen, and bonds were to be issued to cover the deficit.

"I tried to make further reductions in the national defense appropriations," Finance Minister Eiichi Baba said, "but I found it impossible in view of the international situation in which Japan is facing an emergency."

UNDER THE SEA
New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Undersea motion pictures of the salvaging of the liner Lusitania will be made when work is resumed next May. Thomas Whitely of the Argonaut Salvage Corporation, said today. The budget estimates left a deficit of 840,000,000 yen over anticipated income, which was forecast at 2,200,000,000 yen, and bonds were to be issued to cover the deficit.

INTERNATIONAL STOCK SHOW TO BEGIN TONIGHT

Officials Hail Record Entries At Chicago

Estimate Value Of Livestock at $5,000,000

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Record entries at the International Live Stock Exposition were declared tonight by show officials to be representative of agricultural recovery.

The amazing number of livestock entered, 14,653 head, said B. H. Heide, manager, "is indicative of agricultural recovery and a growing interest in thoroughbred animals. Livestock breeders are aware of these things so they entered all the animals they could for the farmer, who now has money in his pocket, to see and buy."

The kings and queens of the farm animal kingdom, sleek and shiny from hundreds of groomings, filled the huge amphitheater in the stockyards district to capacity tonight. Show officials predict they will be seen by a half million people as well as the judges who will determine their position in their respective classes.

Promptly at 7 a. m. tomorrow the doors of the building will be opened for the eight-day exhibition.

Exhibitors from 41 states and five Canadian provinces have entered the show. Among the Canadian entries is David Windsor, High River, Alberta, better known as King Edward, VIII, who won a championship in the two year old bull class last year.

Value of the livestock on exhibition was estimated at $5,000,000. Most of the animals hold blue ribbons, won at smaller shows in the country.

Entries of wheat, corn and other grains are about the same as last year.

Teams of boys and girls, members of 4-H Clubs in 21 states, today matched their skill in judging cattle, swine, horses and sheep. This was the first of the 4-H Club's annual congress, held in conjunction with the exposition. About 1,200 4-H Club members will be here for the congress.

Peace Prize Winner Sees Interviewers

Berlin, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Karl Von Ossietzky, Nobel Peace Prize winner, who for more than three years was a concentration camp prisoner, said today he hoped to testify anew to his pacifist faith in a speech accepting the Nobel award at Oslo.

Ossietzky, recently released from the concentration camp and now in a tubercular hospital here, was permitted to receive interviewers today in the presence of secret service and propaganda ministry officials.

"If the German government will permit, I will be only too glad to go to Oslo as soon as possible," he said in a discussion of the award which roused Nazi Germany to official protest against the "insult" to their nation by honoring a "traitor."

"I have been a pacifist and always intend to be one," Ossietzky asserted. His pacifist preaching was the basis of charges which resulted in his imprisonment.

If permitted to go to Oslo, Ossietzky said he would refrain from "digging up the past" and from anything that might result in discord between Germany and Norway.

Inspect Effects Of Slain Labor Leader

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A six year old $1,000 check, endorsed by Thomas J. Courtney—now state's attorney—was found today among the effects of Michael Galvin, slain labor leader.

Investigators seeking a clue to Galvin's gun death drilled open two safe deposit boxes he had rented and removed the cancelled check, a cryptic note of warning, letters, telegrams, a small notebook filled with records of his Teamsters Union, and telephone numbers and notations, three comic Valentines.

Prosecutor Courtney was in Springfield, but his first assistant, Wilbert Crowley, said he had received the check for legal services in behalf of the Illinois Motor Truck Association before he was elected state's attorney.

When Courtney assumed office in 1932, he branded Galvin's union an "outlaw" organization.

A pencilled note, dated July 2, 1931, read: "Mike, beware of Lahey, (signed) A Friend."

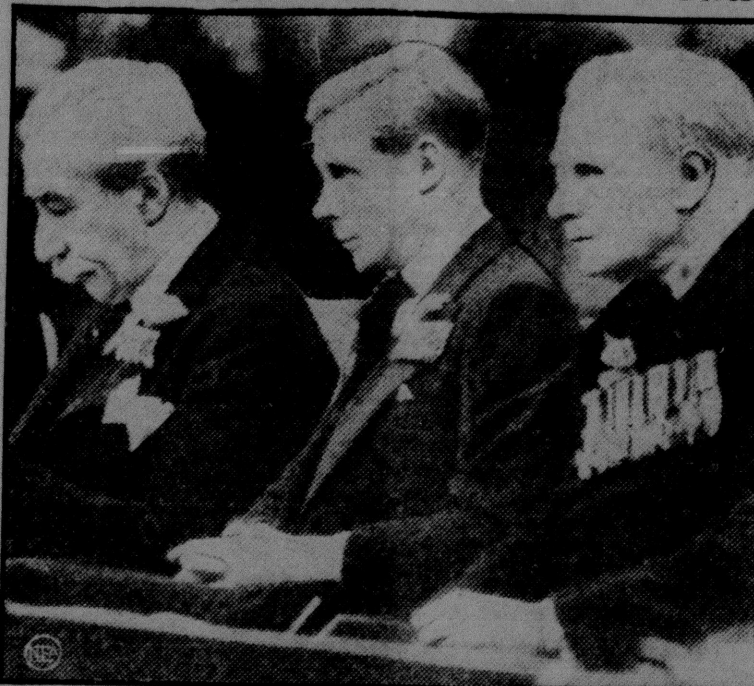

"TWIN" GAINING

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Simplicio Godino, 28-year-old Filipino surgically severed from his head "Siamese twin" brother Tuesday night, continued to gain in health tonight.

The surgeon who cut the tissue, 24 inches in circumference, connecting Simplicio with his brother, who died of rheumatic fever, was revealed today to be Dr. H. M. Wertheim, of Bellevue hospital psychiatric department.

The success of the operation was ascribed partly to the fact that the twins had separate nervous and circulatory systems.

King Pays Tribute to War Dead

It was a serious King Edward VIII who attended the recent annual Festival of Remembrance for British soldiers killed in the World War. As the king, center, sat with Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, left, Belgian ambassador, and Field Marshal Lord Milne during the program, he revealed himself in an unusually solemn mood. The festival, in Royal Albert Hall, London, was climaxed with the release of more than a million poppy petals, one for each British subject killed in the war.

Roosevelt, In Brazil, Pledges U. S. Against 'New World' Invasion

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 27.—(AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt, welcomed tumultuously by thousands of Brazilians as the highest emissary of peace from their sister continent, today pledged the United States against any invasion of the "New World."

Speaking before a joint session of the Brazilian congress after an official automobile cavalcade had borne him through wildly cheering crowds, the President of the United States declared:

"We cannot countenance aggression from wherever it may come.

"It is unthinkable to me that in this time of world-wide apprehension we should fail to seize the opportunity to meet what is a heavy responsibility.

"There is no American conflict that cannot be settled by orderly and peaceful means.

"This is no time to hesitate; we must be guided by a serene and generous view of our common needs."

President Roosevelt's address, delivered from the Tribune of the Chamber meeting in joint session, followed tremendous ovations which started when the U. S. executive departed from the cruise Indianapolis in placid Rio harbor and lasted all along the route to the congressional building.

Brazilian warships and planes greeted the Indianapolis before it docked, the men-of-war exchanging 21-gun salutes honoring President Roosevelt and President Getulio Vargas of Brazil who met and embraced Mr. Roosevelt at the dock.

Huge electrical displays were planned for the president's scheduled departure from Rio after a banquet given in his honor by President Vargas.

The president in his speech before the congress cited the example of United States-Brazilian friendship, asserting:

"The fine record of our relations is the best answer to those pessimists who scoff at the idea of a friendship of nations.

"In the present state of the world it is heartening that the two largest countries of this hemisphere have been able, by the exercise of good-will, good temper, and good sense, to conduct the whole course of their relations without clash, or conflict or ill-feeling."

Declaring peace structures must be consolidated, the president of the United States said:

"Solidarity among American states in the cause of peace constitutes no threat to other regions or races. Honorable adherence to the solemn agreements among us will harm no other continent.

"On the contrary, the more firmly peace is established on this hemisphere, the more closely we live up to the spirit as well as the letter of our agreements, the better it will be for the rest of the world. x x x

"It is not enough that peace prevails from the Arctic to the Antarctic, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is essential that this condition be made permanent, that we provide effectively against a recurrence of the horrors of war, and assure peace to ourselves and posterity."

Mr. Roosevelt's address followed a speech of welcome in the chamber by Roaul Fernandez, diplomat and former majority floor leader, who declared the American president "admitted he brought about a revolution, but was proud it had been a peaceful one."

BLAMES DOUBLE TRAIN SKID FOR CHICAGO CRASH

Motorman Says He Saw 'EI', Could Not Stop

Jury Finds Wooden Coaches Date To 1892

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis said tonight Motorman Van A. Grooms blamed a "double skid" for his North Shore Flyer for the elevated railroad wreck Tuesday night which killed 10 passengers and injured 65 others.

Curtis questioned Grooms at St. Francis hospital in Evanston, where he was taken after the crash, suffering from lacerations and bruises, and held under technical arrest. Present at the hearing were Capt. Martin E. McCormick of the Summerdale police station and E. N. Muldoon, general claim agent of the North Shore Electric line.

The statement, Grooms' first since the accident, gave the following version, Curtis said:

He was about 3500 or 4000 feet south of the Granville station, where the wreck occurred, traveling north when he saw the red block signal that had halted the Loyola express there. He saw the rear lights of the elevated train and the lighted platform of the train.

He applied the train's brakes and immediately went into a long skid. He released the brakes, put the power on to get more traction and again applied the brakes. The train went into a second skid about 1700 feet south of the station and plowed into the train.

When he saw he couldn't stop, he threw the controls into reverse, left the brakes applied and blew the whistle. Then he stepped slightly out of the cab and was knocked down and torn by splinters as the train rammed three quarters of the way through the rear wooden car of the elevated.

Curtis said Grooms told him he was unable to explain the skids. He said the train was in good condition and under normal circumstances could be stopped in 400 feet traveling at 35 to 40 miles per hour, which he estimated was his speed. He said the tracks might have been oily, but that he opened the sand boxes and the sand had no effect.

Grooms will not be questioned again, Curtis said, until after an inquest. The statement was taken by a stenographer.

Earlier police said Roy Gallipo, towerman, had told them the two trains were only 30 seconds apart when they entered the straightaway south of the Granville station. Gallipo said he did not regard that too close for safety.

A coroner's jury centered its inquiry on the wooden coaches used by the elevated line. L. C. Keter, a member of the jury, said some of the cars were purchased to handle crowds at the Columbian Exposition in 1892.

There was a demand that automatic signal and safety devices be installed. The Illinois Communist party charged city and state officials with responsibility for the accident "by making a political football of the transportation problem."

The entire Springfield engineering staff of the Illinois Commerce commission was called by Chairman James M. Slattery to report here tomorrow for a conference. Mayor Edward J. Kelly said he would attend.

Meanwhile, families of five of the wreck victims buried their dead.

Lay Cornerstone Of New Armory

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Governor Horner officiated today at cornerstone ceremonies of the new armory and office building under construction just north of the state house grounds.

Attended by state and city officials, the governor troweled mortar into the recess and a crane swung the cornerstone into place. A metal box containing photographs of President Roosevelt, Governor Horner and Adjutant-General Carlos E. Black, of Illinois, as well as official documents, was sealed in the stone.

Cost of the structure was estimated by state officials at more than $1,000,000.

The new building will replace the historic old state arsenal which burned nearly three years ago with invaluable losses of state records. It stands on the old arsenal site.

ADMITS KILLING

Nebraska City, Neb., Nov. 27.—(AP)—After complaining "I can't sleep," Mrs. Mary Taylor, 25, held on a first degree murder charge, made a written statement to County Attorney Edwin Moran today that she shot and killed her husband, Otha, 33. Hitherto she maintained innocence.

In the statement, Moran said, she related how she shot her husband with a 22 caliber revolver following an argument in their home on the night of Nov. 6. She had no previous intention to kill Taylor, she told the county attorney.

Taylor's nude body was found wrapped in a blanket and bound with rope and wire in a ravine southeast of Nebraska City Nov. 10. Moran questioned the widow as saying she placed it there.

Fire Threatens Rich Forests of Western Oregon

Portland, Ore., Nov. 27.—(AP)—An "unprecedented" fire threat tonight confronted the rich forests of western Oregon, reduced to tinderbox dryness by one of the worst fall droughts in the state's history.

Some 2,000 fire fighters were on the lines and flames, were advancing on several fronts.

No rain was in sight for a country which normally is dripping wet at this time of the year. Some officials privately indicated that unless soaking rains set in, the state might expect a major conflagration.

Whether it repeats the Bandon disaster of Sept. 29, in which two towns in southwestern Oregon were wiped out with a loss of at least 12 lives depends upon the freakishness of wind and fire.

A survey indicated that some 5,000 acres of brush and timber land were ablaze in Oregon and 3,500 in southwestern Washington, more than 2,600 CCC workers are on firelines.

MADRID CITIZENS DIG TUNNELS TO PROVIDE SAFETY

Use Bare Hands And Shovels To Make Bomb Cellars

Madrid, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Madrid citizens dug underground tunnels today to speed their flight from house to house in the bitter siege against the capital by Spanish Fascists.

With bare hands and what shovels they could find, the householders burrowed from one cellar to the next to assure some means of exit if their homes were demolished by bombardment.

Asphyxiation killed hundreds trapped in basements during the past three weeks of siege. Others were crushed to death by falling debris, and the tunnels were designed to guard against this.

Few pedestrians were about the streets, and they were morose and silent.

Curtains flapped through jagged window panes of shell-scarred buildings. Debris lay untouched about the streets.

Lack of food was becoming more acute and most of the city was on a vegetarian diet.

Pigs were reported fairly plentiful, but fish were not.

Light skirmishes marked the battle in University City, northwestern Madrid suburb, but neither Fascist nor Socialist troops made apparent advances.

Gen. Emilio Kieber, naturalized Canadian and leader of the Socialist International Brigade of Foreign Volunteers, was named supreme commander of the suburban defenses as a reward for brilliant services. Kieber described himself as a "professional revolutionary."

Americans still living within the United States embassy organized on a communal basis, chipped in funds for housekeeping, and planned for some sort of amusement program to relieve the strain. The embassy was closed officially yesterday with departure of its staff and 76 Americans for Valencia. Those remaining do so at their own risk.

(Fascist commanders indicated they hoped to starve the capital into submission rather than overcome the Madrid defenders by continued offensive.)

HIGHWAYS SLIPPERY IN SOME PLACES IN STATE IS REPORT

The Jacksonville Auto Club reports that as yet there has been no heavy snow in states bordering Illinois. The central part of the state has had some snow and roads are slick in places.

The bridge across the Illinois river at Meredosia which connects Ill-104 and Ill-105 was dedicated and opened to traffic Wednesday. There is no toll charge on this bridge which was built as a part of the state highway system.

The detour on U. S.-40 between Terre Haute and Indianapolis has been reduced to 12 miles which is over paved road.

Port Wayne, Indiana is 335 miles via U. S.-36 to Decatur; Ill-48 to Onarga; U. S.-45 to Gilman and U. S.-24 to Port Wayne. This is an all paved, fast route, with no construction.

Denver, Colorado and Colorado Springs are accessible via excellent roads through Kansas which are now free of detours. The most advisable route is via St. Joseph, Mo.; Topeka, Kansas; Oakley and Colby, Kansas to Limon, Colorado which is the division of the route to either city. Weather conditions should be checked locally, particularly in western Kansas and eastern Colorado on account of snow.

Quincy, Illinois is 73 miles via Ill-104 to Meredosia and Ill-105 to Quincy. Any other good paved route is available through Pittsfield on U. S. 36.

Human Test Tubes

Frank Fielding's visit to Jacksonville this week during his wanderings over the country as a "human test tube," was noted with interest by a large number of persons. "How can he stand it?" people asked, when they read of the freak life that Fielding leads, and the outlandish diets that he observes. Being a "human test tube" is Fielding's business—he is paid for it. Therefore, he attracts attention. The people of Jacksonville who looked upon him with amazement probably failed to realize that they, too, are "human test tubes," without a dollar of recompense, except the rewards, good or bad, they reap from their mode of living.

"The human test tube" is working for the Vienna Institute of Medical Research. He wears thin clothing in winter, heavy clothing in summer. He subjects himself to a strenuous daily schedule on roller skates, or a bicycle. He eats things that would give the average person indigestion. He sleeps long hours, then goes several days without sleep, at all. The requirements of his tests demand that he does not sleep in a bed. In other words, he subjects himself to all kinds of abuse for steady pay, with a promise of much greater financial rewards if he continues these habits for a period of 10 years.

Jacksonville citizens may look with wonder upon some of Fielding's ways of living, but what individual does not subject himself to certain abuses? The results of these "experiments" in everyday life are not checked by scientists; they are not recorded for the medical profession to pore over, but they have a direct bearing on the welfare of the individual.

Thanksgiving day is still a recent holiday. Did you complain of eating too much during that festive season? You probably indulged in a mixture of a dozen choice viands, while Fielding, the professional, was dining on a couple of cans of stewed tomatoes and a loaf of bread. Which produced the most damaging gastrointestinal effects? Fielding's holiday repeat will be figured in the final records when the scientists check him over. Your excursions into the gustatory delights of the holiday will go unfigured, at the same time affecting your system in some manner or other.

"I'm dead for sleep," is a common expression in these days of rapid living, late engagements, and the tendency to change night into day by stretching one's activities from one day to the next. These people are "human test tubes," defying the laws of nature, experimenting with their physical resistance, flirting with serious disorders if they continue such practices.

We are all "human test tubes." We can profit by the tests, or we can go on creating personal punishment in small degrees, which may lead to serious results. Fielding's presence in the various communities could result in a lesson in proper methods of living.

Municipal Lobbyists

Citizens of Illinois who have visited the capitol at Springfield during sessions of the legislature are impressed by the number of lobbyists. Scores of them mill about the corridors, button-hole the representatives and senators, try to get in on every play. They are almost as much a part of the legislature as the duly elected officials. All are wanting something—they camp on the trail of the legislators and at the capitol until they succeed in their demands, or are turned away with an emphatic "no."

Lobbyists continue to multiply, both at national and state capitols. Men and women whose business is to influence legislation, state or federal, constitute a growing army. Members of legislative bodies must grow more hard-boiled every year to resist them.

St. Louis officials are now seriously discussing whether or not the city shall employ a lobbyist to go to Jefferson City this winter to promote or defeat legislation. Estimates are made of what such a procedure would cost, the salary of the lobbyist, his expenses and that of his helpers if he employs any.

The question occurs why the regularly elected city officers, the mayor, city clerk, city attorney and others, should not do all the "lobbying" at any state capital needed to protect the city's interests—why is it thought necessary to hire a full time "expert" for such work?

In Illinois there is the State Municipal League which is supposed to look after legislative matters affecting all cities. This association maintains a paid secretary and presumably he does the required lobbying for all Illinois cities—Chicago excepted.

Christmas Seal Sale

With Illinois residents dying of tuberculosis at the rate of 12 each day, Dr. Robinson Bosworth, president of the Illinois Tuberculosis association, has issued a statewide appeal to Illinoisans to buy Christmas seals. The thirteenth annual Christmas Seal Sale, which will finance disease prevention campaigns of state opened yesterday and will continue through the holiday season.

"No one should die of tuberculosis," Dr. Bosworth said. "It is a preventable, curable and controllable disease, yet last year it killed more than 4,000 persons in Illinois."

The association president pointed out that the situation is not as dark today as it was 30 years ago. If the tuberculosis death rate were the same today as it was the first year Christmas seals were sold, the disease would be claimed approximately 28 lives each day or more than one each hour. Because of reduction brought about through the holiday season, more than 6,000 lives are now saved each year.

Jacksonville and community have always given substantial support to the Christmas Seal Sale. It is hoped that approach of the gladiolus time of the year will bring to mind greater responsibilities for the unfortunate, and that the Christmas Seal Sale here this winter will be larger than ever before.

Pampering Industries

Roodhouse has just witnessed a complete fold-up of its cheese factory, according to a story in the Roodhouse Record. The industry not only has shut down, but the equipment has been moved away, and there are a number of financial obligations, according to reports.

Business men of the Roodhouse community, wanting to do something for their town, backed the enterprise to the extent of $600 a few months ago, and now naturally are sorry for two reasons that the cheese factory is no more. They lost their money, apparently, and the community no longer has a promising industry.

The record of small industries that have to be helped, nursed, pampered and babied, is rather poor. Not so many years ago every city was out to obtain new factories. Civic committees got together and made enticing concessions to "land" concerns that promised to furnish steady payrolls, and form the back bone of expending industry. Not many of these synthetic industries are operating today. There is a big question about the advisability of holding out inducements to factories to locate in a particular spot. If officials of the company mean business, if they have something permanent and worthwhile, they will not take the trouble to barter with this town and that, and wait to be "begged" to open a factory. If it is a money-making proposition, the factory will open without formal invitation.

Roodhouse is not the only community that has witnessed the closing of small industries, founded on enthusiasm of well-meaning citizens who wish to see their town grow. The experience should not deter honest endeavor to obtain new industries, but the kind of factories that stay put are the ones that spring up from need, a real demand for their products—not because a town offers free rent, land for building sites, or perhaps a cash bonus.

Home Ownership

Delegates to the convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards at New Orleans, La., are emphasizing the need for the broadest possible home ownership in America. Certainly the reality men should have their support of all classes in their effort to have that need met.

It need not be repeated, of course, that the home-owning citizen is precisely the sort of solid, substantial citizen which a country most needs. What might better be emphasized is the fact that millions of our people are poorly housed, and that the building industry would be more than glad to supply homes for them if needs and purchasing power could just be tied together.

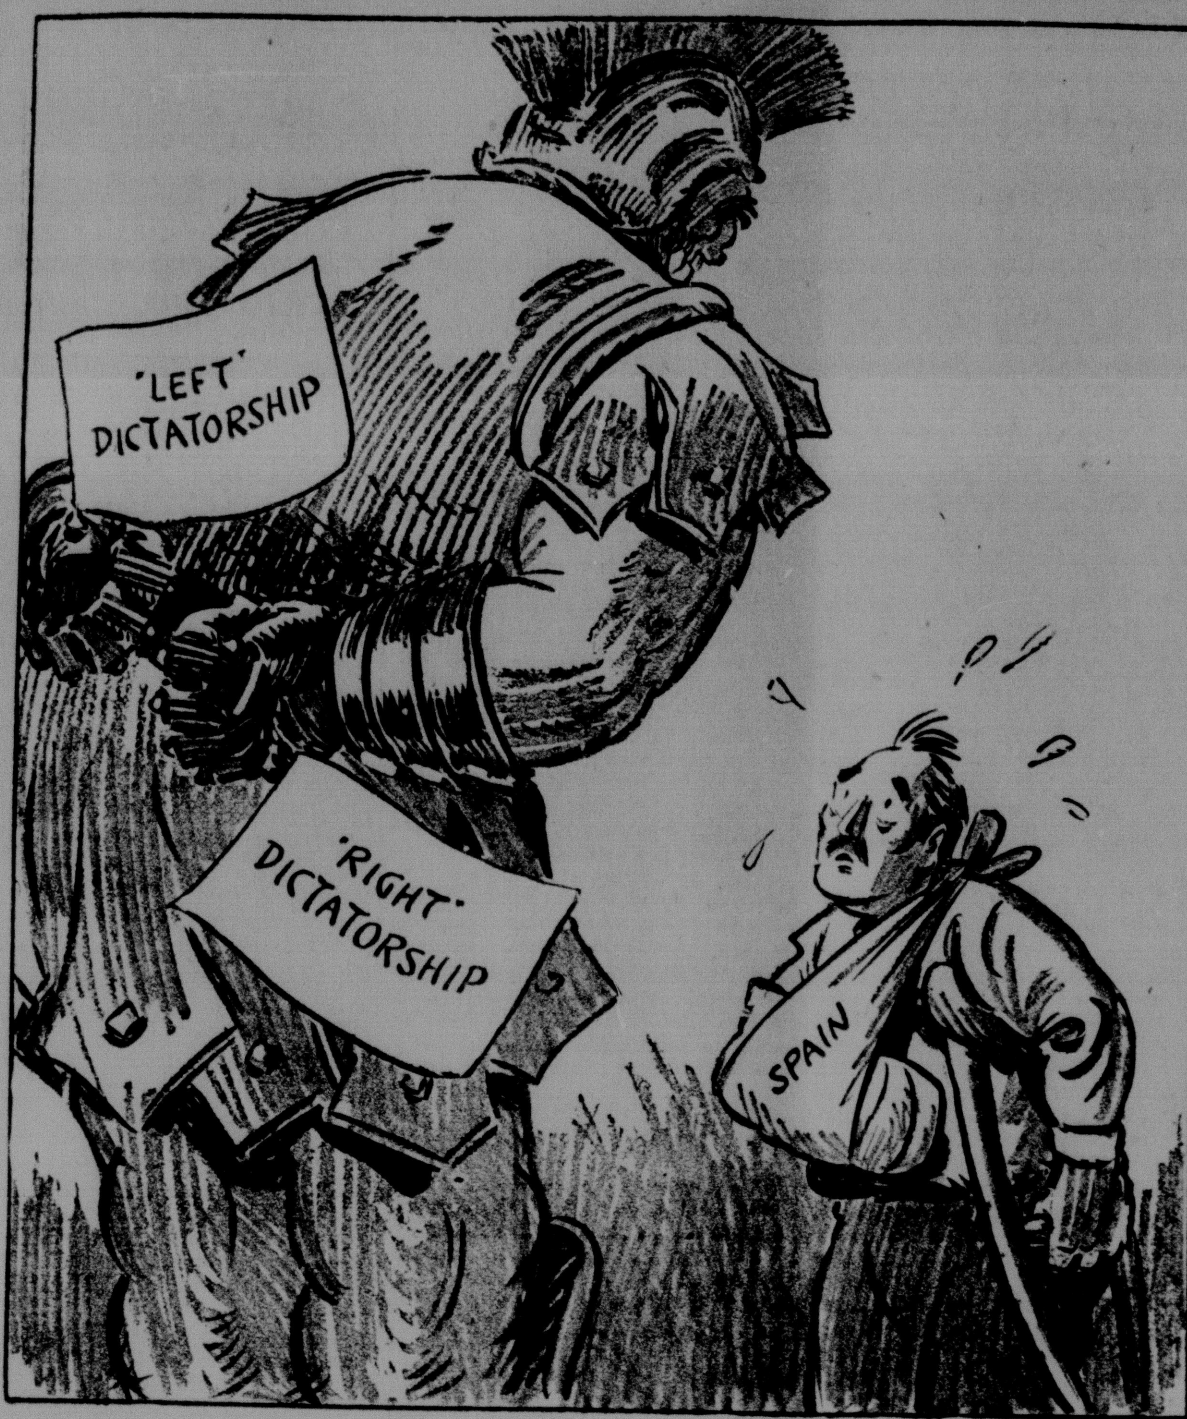

A great home-building boom would be just about the best thing that could happen in this country and in this community. It would mean a better life for a large number of persons, and would furnish returning prosperity with the most solid kind of base.

Mrs. O. Mallicoat Dies at Arenzville

Death Takes Place Early on Thursday; Funeral This Afternoon

Arenzville—Mrs. Oscar Mallicoat died at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning at her home, two miles west of this place. She was 64 years of age. Death came after a lingering illness. She is survived by her husband and one son, Harry, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. John Lowe of Jacksonville. She leaves also other relatives. Detachment of Retina Once Caused Blindness; Now Can Be Remedied

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The retina is the tissues at the back of the eye which receives the images focused on it by the lens, and passes them to the optic nerve, so that they will be suitably recorded by the brain.

At one time, detachment of the retina inevitably was followed by permanent blindness. Today, various procedures are available for saving sight when this accident occurs.

People who are well along in years should not shake their heads suddenly, because occasionally such quick jerks will cause detachment of the retina. In one instance the retina of an elderly judge was detached because he put his head into the belt of an electric vibrator to shake away a headache.

Separation of the retina affects men more often than women; about 60 per cent of the victims are men, 40 per cent women. Average age for people with this condition is 40 years, but a case has actually been recorded in a child 5 years old.

When a detachment of the retina occurs, there is more or less complete loss of vision for that part of the field which is opposite to the detachment. Measurement of the field of vision with a perimeter will show how much sight has been impaired. If enough of the retina becomes detached, sight will be lost completely.

When the doctor looks into the eye with the ophthalmoscope, he can see the changes that have taken place and make certain of the diagnosis. In some cases detachment of the retina seems to be associated with disease.

When an operation is to be performed it must take place speedily because the chances of fastening the retina and keeping it secure are increased by a prompt operation.

Purpose of the operation is to get the retina back into its proper place and to hold it there by an adhesion, produced in various ways.

Improvement or cure has been effected in as many as 50 per cent of cases. Even after successful operation, there may be some temporary disturbance of vision.

The operations performed on the eye are among the most delicate of all procedures, yet more and more, with the advancement of surgical technique and anesthesia, difficult performances are becoming possible.

SOCIAL SECURITY EXPLAINED BY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Note: This is the last of the articles on the federal social security plan.

65. Question—Does the exclusion of agricultural employment and domestic employment in private homes mean that no farm workers or domestic servants will ever receive old-age benefits?

Answer—Not at all. People in this country make frequent changes in their occupations. Relatively few spend their entire working lives in one type of work. Many now in excluded employment may, before 65 shift to other employment and become eligible for federal old-age benefits.

66. Q.—As the owner and manager of an unincorporated grocery store, will I qualify for old-age benefits?

A.—Earnings of self-employed people, that is, those not working for an employer, are not wages, and under the law cannot be used as a basis of eligibility for old-age benefits.

67. Q.—A housewife works for three months each summer at $75 a month as a cook in a hotel. Will her wages entitle her to old-age benefits?

A.—If she continues to do this after Dec. 31, 1936, her wages between that time and the date on which she reaches the age of 65 will be counted as wages for the purpose of determining old-age benefits. In one year her wages would be $225. In addition, if she receives her board and lodging at the hotel, the cash value of her board and room will be considered as part of her wages.

68. Q.—How much would her board and lodging add to her wages?

A.—That will depend on the value of the board and room. For example, if the cash value of her board and lodging were determined at $34.50 a month, this amount would be added to her monthly wages of $75, making a total of $109.50 a month to be counted toward her total wages.

69. Q.—If she worked for five years before she was 65, would she receive old-age benefits?

A.—In five years she would have total wages of $1,642.50. On her sixty-fifth birthday she would then be eligible for a lump-sum payment of 31 per cent of this amount or $517.49.

70. Q.—Why wouldn't she receive monthly benefits?

A.—Her total wages would be less than $2,000, the minimum amount which entitles a worker to monthly federal old-age retirement benefits.

71. Q.—If she worked for seven years, would she receive monthly benefits?

A.—If she worked for seven years after 1936 and before reaching 65 and her wages were $109.50 a month for three months in each of the seven years, her wages would be $328.50 each year. In seven years her total wages would be $2,299.50, which would entitle her to monthly benefits of $11.50.

72. Q.—If a girl works in a factory at $65 a month for ten years beginning in 1937 and then marries, will she be entitled to monthly benefits at 65 if after her marriage she no longer works in an included employment?

A.—Yes. If such wages are $65 a month for ten years in a factory, her total wages would be $7,800, which would entitle her to federal old-age retirement benefits of $19 a month when she reaches 65.

73. Q.—If she died before the age of 65 and after the completion of her ten years of employment, would her estate receive any payment?

A.—Yes. Her total wages would be $7,800. The payment to her estate would be 31 per cent of her total wages, or $2,418.

74. Q.—A boy who goes to high school works Saturdays and Sundays in a drug store. He plans to continue this work to help pay his way through college. Will his wages be counted in the computation of benefits?

A.—Yes. 75. Q.—If he becomes a teacher after he finishes college, can he qualify for federal old-age retirement benefits?

A.—The wages for work in the drug store, and perhaps for other employments during the summer, may be sufficient to entitle him to monthly benefits. His salary as a teacher in a public school, in a state university, or in most private non-profit educational institutions cannot, however, be counted in the computation of benefits.

RECREATION PROJECT IN GREENE TO MEND TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS

White Hall.—In both Carrollton and White Hall a drive for broken and discarded toys is being made by the Greene County Recreation Project. Mrs. Frank Frech of White Hall is Called By Death Suddenly

Well Known Woman Victim of Heart Attack Following Family Reunion

White Hall.—Sadness followed close upon a happy Thanksgiving family reunion here Thursday with the death of Mrs. Frank Frech, which occurred suddenly at her home at 10:45 o'clock Thursday night. The four surviving members of a family of nine children had been together at the Frech home during the day.

After retiring for the night Mrs. Frech was seized with a fit of coughing. She went to the bathroom to find some medicine, but her condition became worse. She called her brother, C. M. Stevens of Bement, who had remained in the home to spend the night. He, seeing she was critically ill, called her husband, A. Frech, who was summoned, but Mrs. Frech passed away shortly after his arrival. She had been recently treated for heart trouble.

Two brothers, C. M. Stevens of Bement and E. L. Stevens of Carrollton and their families, a sister, Mrs. Laura Ellen Briggs, and a nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens of Carrollton, had attended the family dinner and reunion.

Margaret Stevens was born on a farm near Carrollton, April 11, 1863, a daughter of Clark and Mildred Cooper Stevens. Her grandfather, Judge Cooper of Carrollton, had the distinction of living in three centuries.

In 1833 she was married to Frank Frech, who has been for a number of years a well known business man here. She is survived by her husband and one son, Dr. Orville Frech of Decatur, in addition to the two brothers and a sister mentioned above.

Mrs. Frech cared for two nephews in her home following the death of their mother. They are Paul Patterson, a student at the University of Illinois, and Mervine Patterson, a teacher in New Bedford, Ohio. A grandniece, Miss Lottie Moody, also resided in the Frech home during her high school years. Mrs. Frech cared also for her invalid sister, Mrs. Briggs. She is survived by three grandchildren, Edwin Lee Frech of Decatur, Miss Janice North Frech, a student at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, and Virginia Faye Frech of Decatur.

Mrs. Frech was a member of the official board of the White Hall M. E. church, and was active in the service of the church for many years. Funeral services will be held from the Methodist church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. T. B. Lugg of Decatur, assisted by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Linfield. Interment will be in White Hall cemetery.

Invitations have been received in the city announcing the approaching wedding of Miss Dorothy Anne Pickering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lytle Pickering, Jr., of Pleasant Ridge, Michigan, and granddaughter of Mrs. Richard Yates of this city, to Frederick Scott Avery, Jr., of Pasadena, California.

"Lottery Man" Given By MacMurray Cast

Play Culminates Thanksgiving Program; Large Audience Present

A lesson in what not to do when marriage and lottery tickets are combined was taught in a clever three-act comedy, "The Lottery Man", by Rida Johnson, presented Thursday night by the MacMurray College Dramatic club cast. The Thanksgiving programs culminated with this play which was given the appreciative audience of alumna, friends and students of the college.

The story of the play featured a central male figure, Jack Wright, a dashing and gambling young newspaper reporter, Eileen Kitts, junior student portrayed this character well, showing his difficulties in his lottery scheme and his love affairs. Jack owed money to his friend and employer, "Foxy" Peyton, and agreed to refund it from money made in a lottery, himself as the prize, the story to result in a scoop for the paper.

Jean Whiting, sophomore speech major, showed an equal ability in taking a male role by playing this latter part.

Jack's plan remained a feasible one until the entrance of a young wealthy woman, Helena Heyer, who won his affections. Mary Jane Bickie, junior, played opposite Jack in this part.

Further complications arose in the story when the lucky ticket, number "1323" was found in the possession of Lizzie Roberts, a "stooge" for Mrs. Peyton, society dame. Virginia Nichols played the lead comic role of Lizzie, poor and plain, but as desirous of love as a beautiful and rich young person. Mary Sue Wootton portrayed the character of Mrs. Peyton, "would-be" artificially beautiful society success.

Jack's difficulties and his true matrimonial desires were on the point of realization, as the last act drew to a conclusion. Lizzie had not won the ticket but had "snatched" it from a non-interested house-maid. The part of Jack's understanding mother, Mrs. Wright, was well taken by Marjorie Blackburn, senior; Hedwig, Mrs. Peyton's "Swede Irish" nansseuse, by Elizabeth Ubben, sophomore speech major, and Stevens, the maid, by Rose Marie Mohrdeck.

Credit for the success of this first number in the series of productions to be presented by the club this year should be given to Mrs. Marlan Chase Schaeffer and Miss Dorothy E. Remley, co-directors, and capable assistants from the dramatic department.

One Boy To Be Selected From Each Team To Receive Gold Medal From Journal-Courier

Illinois Valley conference football teams already have begun the selection of the most valuable football player on their respective teams to receive the gold football, offered annually to the player selected by his team-mates for this honor by the Jacksonville Journal and Courier.

Letters went out to the coaches of the eight teams in the conference this week, asking them to call a meeting of their football squads in order that the players themselves might select the boy who is to be known as the most valuable to his team for his work during the past season.

This is the third year that the Journal and Courier have offered gold footballs to players in this conference. Each year these newspapers have made it possible for the players themselves to state who in their opinion has been the most inspiring boy on the team, whose play they have regarded as above the average, and who has contributed the most to the success of his team through good sportsmanship, good scholarship, and good spirit.

Some of the best football in the history of the conference was played during the season just closed. Roadhouse, with an unbeaten and untied record, went through to its second straight championship, and its fourth championship in the last five years.

Despite the fact that the Roadrunners rushed over all of their opposition with two exceptions, the season held interest until the last day. It reached its first climax when the Roadrunners and Carrollton battled to a 7-6 decision, the closest Railroad-

ers came to losing a game all year, and its second climax when Roadhouse defeated White Hall 27 to 6 before 2500 fans, on Armistice day. The crowd

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

The EARTH,
ACCORDING TO MANY SCIENTISTS OF TODAY, HAD A DIAMETER OF ONLY ABOUT 5,500 MILES WHEN IT FIRST CAME INTO EXISTENCE. THEN, BY DRAWING PLANETESIMALS INTO ITSELF, IT GREW TO A DIAMETER OF 8,100 MILES! BUT SHRINKING AND BUCKLING NOW HAS REDUCED ITS DIAMETER TO 7,926 MILES.

IN THE U.S.,
TUBERCULOSIS KILLS ONE PERSON ABOUT EVERY EIGHT MINUTES.

IN AFRICA...
BATS ARE HUNTED FOR FOOD.

ACCORDING TO THE Chamberlin theory, a great nebular mass condensed to form the sun, from which, under the attraction of passing stars, the planets were heaved off in the form of knotted spiral nebulae. The knots then began drawing the outer particles, or planetesimals to them. Thus the earth grew after it first was formed.

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, knows the neighborhood is buzzing over the sudden disappearance of BRANK, a stranger, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced. Since his disappearance, a shortage in Brank's funds has been discovered.

With others, Marcia is in a restaurant when there is a hold-up. Marcia loses a ring that was her mother's.

Learning Frank is in Chicago, Marcia tries to find him. He tells her to return and face his financial obligations. Before she reaches him, Frank disappears again.

In Chicago, she encounters BRUCE McDOUGALL, a stranger, who volunteers a slight service. Bruce is also a passenger on the plane Marcia takes to return home. A few weeks later she meets him again. Bruce, an artist, has decided to make his home in the suburb.

Meanwhile, TONY STELLICI, restaurant chef, suspects his brother, CARLO, of being involved in the holdup. Having some of the loot in Carlo's home, a file and his confederates make plans to rob the bank.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XV

TONY STELLICI, with a sick heart, realized that he had bungled the job which clearly had faced him when he first suspected Carlo's complicity in the Dog Wagon holdup. His immediate concern had been to recapture, as a matter of honor, the property stolen before his eyes from the restaurant customers. In his efforts to this end, and subsequently, he had acted in secret because of consideration of his father, fearing the effect of the shock upon the invalid should he learn that his other son was a thief. Having regained and mailed anonymously to the police his brother's share of the things stolen at the Dog Wagon, Tony had felt himself balked; he did not know how to proceed without publicity harmful to his father.

But as the same four men who had robbed his customers had since committed other holdups in Bobbs Neck—the Henderson bridge party and the Canfield home—Tony realized the effects of his failure. Somehow he should have stopped Carlo at the outset.

On the day after Carlo's visit to New York, Tony awakened, as usual, soon after noon and, greeting his father, prepared for his breakfast, served by the landlady along with his father's lunch. The village welfare nurse was to call this afternoon on a regular visit, and after their meal Tony opened a book to read to his father until her arrival.

SINCE Marcia Canfield, as part of her contribution to the welfare work, frequently accompanied the nurse on her rounds, Tony was not surprised when the two arrived together this afternoon.

Nor, of course, was he surprised

Universities To Provide Judges For Speech Meet

Receive Assurance of Aid From Many Colleges, Universities

Cooperation from colleges and universities of the mid-west in furnishing judges for the National Forensic League Debate and Speech tournament, should it be held in Jacksonville, has already been assured. Fifteen colleges have replied to questionnaires recently sent out asking if they could furnish competent judges, and 13 of this group have answered in the affirmative. The presence of 44 judges has been assured, and this number does not include either Illinois or MacMurray colleges, both of which have signified intention of backing the tournament in every way possible.

Schools which have promised judges for the tourney are Stephens and Christian colleges of Columbia, Missouri; McKendree college of Lebanon, University of Missouri at Columbia; Knox college of Galesburg; Moberly Junior college; Northeastern Missouri Teachers college; Kirkville; Shurtleff college, Illinois Wesleyan college at Bloomington; Illinois State Normal, Bloomington; Blackburn college at Carlinville; Eastern Illinois Teachers, Carbondale; and Lincoln college.

Another problem which would confront Jacksonville if the tournament were to be held here would be that of housing the visiting students. Some of the groups would stay at hotels, but the majority of the guests usually stay in private homes, one, two, three, or more to a home as the residents see fit. A large number of people have already indicated that they would be glad to have a couple of students sleep at their homes for three or four days during the tournament. And Jacksonville has always backed the local debate team in such a way that authorities at the high school feel certain that the housing problem will be easily met.

Definite word as to the choice of a tournament city is being eagerly awaited. Harold Gibson has stated that this word will probably be received about the last week in December. The tournament runs through the first week in May.

Lukeman Motor Co. Qualified by State

Local Garage and Service Station Recognized For Official Inspection

The Lukeman Motor Company of this city enjoys the distinction of being the second garage or service station in Illinois to be become qualified for state inspection of motor vehicles. The certificate approving the local company was received this week from Ernest Lieberman, chief highway engineer of Illinois, and will be framed and placed in a prominent place in the Lukeman Motor company's office.

Issuance of such a certificate to the local company means that it has qualified as an official inspection station as outlined in the Uniform Act regulating traffic on highways. Its service in adjustment and repair of brakes, lighting equipment, steering mechanism, horns, mirrors, windshield wipers and other parts of cars and trucks in which safety is dependent, is recognized as meeting a high standard. The No. 1 inspection station qualified by the state is in Peoria, and the Lukeman station is No. 2.

The Lukeman Motor Company has been safety-minded for several years. Visioning conditions as they are today, the company some time ago remodeled its building and installed all of the safety devices at that time that are required by the state now of a qualified station.

"We naturally are highly pleased at being able to qualify as a state inspection station," George T. Lukeman of the firm stated yesterday. "We know that safety is a leading requisite of most drivers; therefore, we provided our station with the equipment that tests and turns out cars in perfect adjustment. It is gratifying to us that these steps we took voluntarily to serve the public have won recognition of the state highway department."

Charge Violation Of Migratory Bird Law In Informations

Justice Warren H. Orr Answers Allegations of Federal Men

As United States District Attorney Howard Doyle filed with the federal court clerk in Springfield four informations charging violations of the migratory bird treaty law, and at the same time issued a statement in which he announced he had asked federal game agents to "make further investigation" of an "alleged violation" by Supreme Court Justice Warren H. Orr, of Rock Island, Justice Orr replied "You can't ask a duck before you shoot him, whether he has had a little corn for breakfast." The informations were filed Friday.

The four men named in the informations were T. R. Cochrane, William K. Fellows, Robert H. Morse and Leslie L. Cook, all of Chicago and alleged to be members of a gun club at Crane lake, south of Havana, Ill., in Mason county.

District Attorney Doyle's statement regarding Justice Orr read: "An affidavit secured by J. R. Perry, United States game management agent, discloses that Judge Warren H. Orr was hunting on the east end of Horn lake, on Crane lake preserve. The alleged violation is that he was shooting over baited area, which is a question of fact, and I have requested the federal agents to make a further investigation as to this fact."

Illegal Shooting
The informations charged the four Chicago men with illegally shooting waterfowl in the Crane lake area on Nov. 19, on the ground they were shooting over baited territory, which is prohibited by the federal game laws.

Federal and state conservation officials are in disagreement over the United States game laws. Federal game agents contend that hunting is prohibited on any lake of which a part has been set aside as a preserve. The state has under lease about 1,200 acres of the Crane lake region which have been set aside as a wild life sanctuary. State Conservation Director C. P. Thompson claims that the state has the right to establish a preserve anywhere it chooses.

The informations were filed by Doyle late yesterday after he had conferred with George Tonkin, regional director of the U. S. Biological Survey, and Agent Perry, all of Winona, Minn., and John Martin, of Peoria, federal game agent.

Doyle also said that "ten to fifteen other persons were being investigated" as to possible violations.

Orr Answers
"You can't ask a duck before you shoot him, whether he has had a little corn for breakfast," in answer to charges of John Martin, federal game agent at Peoria, that Judge Orr and a number of other Illinois sportsmen, who hunt at the Crane lake and Astoria Gun clubs, had violated the federal migratory bird law.

"I have not violated any federal law with regard to shooting of ducks," Judge Orr said. "Neither have I been arrested. In my own case I was hunting at a spot three-fourths of a mile from the point where ducks were fed. We shoot the ducks as they go over and you can't stop the duck to ask whether he has already had his corn."

"This controversy has nothing to do with any act of congress regulating migratory water fowl," Justice Orr said.

"It deals with an interpretation of a federal regulation as to what constitutes baited premises for shooting ducks."

"Federal agents construe that an entire area is privileged even if one corner of it is baited. The Illinois department of conservation does not adhere to this view. Our gun club leases land in the Crane lake region to the state of Illinois as a game preserve, but we do not feel that just because the state places feed in the lake, we cannot hunt on 1,100 acres that are not baited."

"The state interpretation is that only a reasonable distance away from the place where ducks are baited is privileged."
